THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 21.

EGYPTIAN CORN, &c.—A Mr. Lindsay, who dates from Abingdon, Va., has been advertise ing Egyptian corn, and farmers have been buying it, paying five dollars for ten grains, sent in a letter. What was the great merit claimed by the vendor for the Egyptian corn seed we know not; but certainly the farmers aforesaid BY SIMPSON & ATWILL-AUCTIONEERS. have been able to discover none. The experience of Mr. John W. McCuc, of Albemarle, is as follows: He planted the ten grains in rich land half a mile from other corn. Nine grains came up, growing each to a single straight stalk, like other corn, and each having one single ear of corn—very indifferent yellow terns, &c., &c. SIMPSON & ATWILL, corn. So much for Egyptian corn at five dollars for ten grains! Colonel J. Marshall McCue, of Augusta, with Mr. Lindsay at five dollars for ten grains.

Now, Lindsay presumes upon these grains of success, and tantalizes the cultivators of the success, and tantalizes the cultivators of the Egyptian with a further proposal, through a pamphlet which comes along with the corn, pamputet which comes along with the corn, to cure any kind of disease, and, furthermore, for twenty-five cents to "give instructions by which the commonest metals can be converted into gold!" This Lindsay is a great wag.—

Mr. McCue says he has learned that L. is a farmer in easy circumstances, living near Abingdon, and that he reserts to these Abingdon, and that he resorts to these tricks upon the credulous "merely for amusement." Now, he is a capital fellow—this Lindsay. He has certainly great talents. He should not hide his light under a bushel in the obscure part of the world from which he dates.
